God in the wind

O God treat me as you do the darkened sky
Burst me into brilliant light
Clouds hanging glumly are mine waiting your quickening touch
Your slightest healing breath can sweep out decades-old dust and debris
Let your brisk zephyr whirl joy, love and fresh hope across my sodden fields
Blue and gold my sky.

Trudy Baltes, IHM
1922-2005